

Ben Haga Rayane - Petit Heddi

Title: Struggle for Trans-Kids Rights in a Divided America

1/1

Introduction:

The American sociopolitical climate is witnessing a pivotal moment in the rights of transgender children. In the US, the rights of transgender children are a topic of major debate. Articles from The Washington Post and Bloomberg Law show states like Texas restricting these rights, while others form a 'Rainbow Wall' to protect them. ABC News highlights similar laws nationwide, and a Texas protest feature shot shows public disagreement. We'll examine how the threat that weighs on trans kids due to restricting laws enacted by some States has forced others to establish countermeasures as a way to protect them while giving rise to a huge public reaction.

8/14

107 mets

Topic Sentence 1:

In an escalating battle across the United States, legislative measures are being enacted in multiple states to restrict transgender children's participation in sports aligned with their gender identity, representing a direct threat to their rights and social inclusivity.

1/2

107 + 38 = 145 mets

too narrow, not enough for 1 para

Transition part 1 to 2:

However, the legislative assault extends beyond the realms of sports, encroaching on the fundamental healthcare rights of transgender youth.

1/2

145 + 19 = 164 mets

Topic Sentence 2:

The pursuit of laws to deny or criminalize gender-affirming healthcare in states like Texas not only undermines medical autonomy but also signifies a broader societal struggle over the acceptance and support of transgender children's identity and well-being.

2/2

164 + 39 = 203 mets

Transition part 2 to 3:

Amidst these legislative controversies, a powerful counter-movement is emerging, advocating for the rights and dignity of trans-kids.

2/2

203 + 19 = 222 mets

Topic Sentence 3:

The emergence of 'Rainbow Wall' states and the widespread public resistance to oppressive legislative measures reflect a significant societal pushback, highlighting the resilience and advocacy for the rights and future of transgender youth in America.

2/2

222 + 35 = 257 mets

The pb is the lack of coherence b/w the outline of the intro & the TS.

Language: 5/5

17/20